The screenshot shows the homepage of The New York Times. The main headline is "How Mark Meadows and the Band of Loyalists Fought to Keep Trump in Power". The article text is: "A few G.O.P. lawyers took on an outside role in amplifying conspiracy theories and flooding the courts in an attempt to overturn the 2020 election. The group worked closely with Mr. Meadows former President Trump's chief of staff, whose actions are coming into focus as the Jan. 6 inquiry gains traction." Below the article is a photo of a hand reaching out towards a screen. The caption reads "Doug Mills/The New York Times".

Other visible headlines include "Fed Shifts to Inflation Battle, Winding Down Pandemic Support" and "The Upshot: Why Jerome Powell Pivoted on Inflation".

On the right side, there is a section titled "What Stone Soup Means to a Seasoned Chef" with a photo of a bowl and a small round object. Below it, there is a section titled "Opinion" with the article "What We Still Haven't Learned About Guns" by Gail Collins.

How Mark Meadows and the Band of Loyalists Fought to Keep Trump in Power

A few G.O.P. lawyers took on an outside role in amplifying conspiracy theories and flooding the courts in an attempt to overturn the 2020 election.

The group worked closely with Mr. Meadows former President Trump's chief of staff, whose actions are coming into focus as the Jan. 6 inquiry gains traction.

Fox News hosts downplayed their texts to Mark Meadows made during the Jan. 6 attack.

Fed Shifts to Inflation Battle, Winding Down Pandemic Support

With the economy healing, but price gains pinching consumers, officials are dialing back bond purchases and getting in position to raise interest rates.

The Upshot: Why Jerome Powell Pivoted on Inflation

A surge in wages and benefits got his attention. Other data soon confirmed his concern.

Stocks rose as the Federal Reserve stepped up its inflation fight.

My Son Is Not Alone. Millions of Young People Commit His Crime.

Dec. 17, 2021

Khalil Hamra/Associated Press

By Laila Soueif

Ms. Soueif is a professor of mathematics and the mother of Alaa Abd El Fattah, a political prisoner in Egypt.

CAIRO — Standing outside the Tora prison complex, where my son is held, a mother asks me: What's your son in for?

"Politics," I say.

She looks surprised, not because you can be imprisoned for politics — there's nothing strange about that in Egypt — but because most political prisoners are Islamists, and she doesn't think I look like the mother of an Islamist. "He was one of shabab al-thawra," I add, the young people of the revolution.

No further explanation is needed.

Why is my son, Alaa Abd El Fattah, in prison? He is one of tens of thousands of political prisoners in Egypt. He has been there for more than seven years, across different governments, with little hope for a way out. He has stood trial many times and will be
